BRUH HE USED THE WORDS GANG AND PARKLAND IN THE SAME SENTENCE.. the speed limit is 30-35 mph, people ride their horses in the streets of this city, every community there is gated, if u go a mile over the speed limit u get pulled over. One of the wealthiest communities in broward.

Hats off to Walmart & Dick's Sporting Goods who both announced they're pitching in to #EndGunViolence. Both will no longer sell guns to anyone under 21 & Dick's will end sales of assault-style rifles & high-capacity magazines. Thank you for your leadership

An AR-15, a Pistol, a Shotgun and pipe bombs. An officer shot. Many students killed. This is not Columbine. It's not 1999. This is today. This is 2018. Our government is failing to keep our nation safe from a crisis nearly 20 years in the making.

Before you panic, please identify a commonly available, affordable 3D printer that can manufacture a barrel that can take say, 10,000psi or can mill a bolt from 9310 steel.

This is a panic story wildly out of proportion with the technical realities of extant technology.

We shared your opinion the first time we received a Bump Stock at ATF for evaluation. Laws rarely keep pace with Tech. Lessons from Las Vegas instruct us to be concerned about where tech, and in this case 3D printing, will be in 5 years...today.

20 years ago, two teenagers opened fire at #Columbine High School, killing 12 of their classmates and a teacher in one of America's deadliest school shootings. The next day, I sat down with Craig Scott, 16, who lost his sister Rachel, and Michael Shoels, who lost his son Isaiah.

I'll never forget that morning: It was pitch dark, and snow had just begun to fall. Everyone was in tremendous shock, but witnessing Craig, holding Michael's hand, mustering the strength to speak about what he witnessed...it was unbelievably powerful.

If the solution to gun violence is the mere presence of a good guy with a gun, why are cops getting shot and killed up 133%?

Just yesterday I was talking to @VelshiRuhle about how Governor Abbott changing Texas gun laws made Texans less safe. Just yesterday.....

That's right @dfreed02 or via the Internet like Armslist. The shooter could have also had the firearm unlawfully straw purchased on his behalf.

It is not clear that the shooter obtained the gun legally. Well that's an interesting tidbit in this article and would explain why the car stop by police immediately led to gunfire.

Questions that need answering regarding the #OdessaShooting and the shooter's AR-15. The Governor says the shooter failed a NICS check. When? Why? Where? What was he trying to buy? What action was taken as a result of this federal felony violation? How did he get the AR-15?

Apparently a background check thwarted the #OdessaShooting killer the first time he attempted to buy a gun. Governor Abbott can explain why failure to require universal background checks and licensing gave the shooter a second chance to commit mass murder.

Texas approach to public safety. Citizens at least 18 years of age can carry the same weaponry as SWAT teams. Police must assume they are good guys until they start shooting people. Then once the bad guy is shooting, and only then, can police and armed citizens respond.

Passing background checks would demoralize Republican base??? Most recent polling would suggest the base described is at 17% - in contrast to the 83% of Republicans who support such checks.

Does your city have @shotspotter. It works like a fire alarm. It alerts police to the exact location of any shooting in about 30 seconds with a dot on a map. If not, ask why? In some cities officials simply don't want to know "officially" your neighborhood is under attack.

The failure to pass universal background checks on all gun sales is an unholy laboratory experiment sponsored by the NRA. It's as if Post-9/11 we decided to allow all passengers to carry guns on planes and directed TSA to respond only if shots were fired - in air- and too late.

I've used a similar analogy - as if passengers who bought tickets thru the airline went through security, but those using 3rd party ticketers could bypass. The only purpose is to allow gun makers to still sell guns to those who would fail NICS

Sources close to the investigation tell me agents are focused on the unlicensed firearms trafficker for exploiting the private sale loophole to deal in assault weapons off the books absent background checks. No evidence that untraceable ghost guns are involved at this point.

People who make and sell assault rifles via the internet absent a background check are not patriots - they're criminal firearms traffickers who put greed and profit before national security.

Good morning trolls. At Armslist, a bulletin board for anonymous private gun sales, you simply pick a nearby parking lot to meet the seller and its cash and carry, no background check and no paperwork required. You're working very hard this morning to coverup this truth.

@TheIACP Should have used their skills of predictive policing to avoid this spectacle. Providing the President a forum at #IACP2019 to attack the Host Chief and the City of Chicago is shameful. I expect an immediate response from the @TheIACP in defense of its membership.

If your city has a gun violence problem and it doesn't yet have @shotspotter directing cops where to respond it's like a city whose fire department has watchmen looking for smoke rather than alarms. This is how @shotspotter changes everything.

I was asked what's the single most important tool for police to prevent the next shooting. It's clearly @shotspotter. The ability to detect and locate illegal gunfire with precision helps cops collect evidence, link shootings and apprehend an offender before he becomes a killer.

A concern was voiced that gunshot detection might lead to over policing. The opposite is true. @shotspotter empowers police to target active shooters rather than stop and frisk.

Precision Policing requires a response to every shooting. Absent @shotspotter this is impossible since only 1 in 5 shootings is ever reported to police. If your department fails to respond to 80 percent of shootings what message is being delivered to your community?

Suburban police don't wait until drunk drivers get into a wreck before taking them off the road. Scores of cities now use @shotspotter alerts the same way - taking down active shooters after rounds are unlawfully fired but prior to someone being shot.

@shotspotter data is the foundation of any comprehensive community violence intervention initiative. Data on shootings allows cities to direct community resources to neighbors under siege - measuring success based on reductions in shootings rather than a dehumanizing body count.

Heading out later for a long rainy shift. This weekend will be very busy, especially super bowl night, with drunken violence, particularly domestic violence. Cuz nothing's more American than football & pathetic men beating on their loved ones. But sadly that violence is every day

Very, very sad, but as you know, very true. Also the most dangerous calls for police officers. Be safe out there, and thank you for your service to our communities. #EndDomesticViolence

My daughter means the world to me.

I ran for office — I do this work — because of her. B/c I want a world where she, & all little girls, can thrive.

But the hard truth is—we still have work to do. That means more women stepping up & running.

Because representation matters.

Correcting previous post. People getting shot in Pittsburgh has dropped. These represent those citizens who survived their wounds. For hundreds of people who will not have to live with crippling wounds, this is also great news.

For a bit of historical perspective: no US Senator has ever voted to remove a president of their own party. Just keep this in mind amidst discussions of Mitch McConnell's ruthless cunning.

GOP admits that if black people voted Republican, voter ID laws wouldn't happen. All of this is to keep suppressing votes to cheat to win elections. Trump cheating isn't new. Republicans have rigged elections for decades. GOP supports cheating to win.

It should be like how they do it in Sweden, where tickets are based on percentage of income. So if your average income is $1000 and his is $10,000,000 and the ticket is 10% of your weekly income; your ticket would be $100 and his would be $1,000,000.

This is the only sane way to levy fines. Doing it any other way amounts to intentionally screwing over the poor

I'm proud to endorse @JoeBiden for President of the United States.

After I was shot, Joe was there for me. And he's always been there for the gun safety movement.

He's taken on the NRA and passed gun safety bills—and he's running to be a #GunSafetyPresident to do it again.

Even when it wasn't as politically popular, Joe was pushing for safer gun laws.

I work in an ER in a county with confirmed Corona virus cases. Today was the first day we were able to test for the virus. We had to get approval from the health Dept. Also it's a lab send out and takes several days to get results. Some countries have drive thru tests. Sad

Flu pandemics recur reliably but unpredictably every decade or so, and their extent and intensity varies. With COVID19, we may be in midst of a once-every-50-years event, perhaps similar to 1957 pandemic, but not as bad as the 1918 pandemic. Let's talk about the 1957 pandemic. 1/

Pandemics result from emergence of viral strains that are novel, often from genetic recombination in animal reservoirs. The 1957 pandemic was due to influenza A (H2N2). cdc.gov/flu/about/viru… "Serological archeology" suggests it resembled 1889 strain. ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/8877331 2/

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20503

M-20-15

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

FROM: Russell T. Vought
Acting Director

SUBJECT: Updated Guidance for the National Capital Region on Telework Flexibilities in Response to Coronavirus

In light of the evolving situation concerning the coronavirus ("COVID-19") and the National Capitol Region (NCR) experiencing community transmission, the Administration wants to ensure that department and agency leaders assertively safeguard the health and safety of their workforce while remaining open to serve the American people and conduct mission critical functions.

All Federal Executive Branch departments and agencies within the National Capital Region (NCR), consistent with OMB's recent guidance (OMB M-20-13), are asked to offer maximum telework flexibilities to all current telework eligible employees, consistent with operational needs of the departments and agencies as determined by their heads. In addition, we encourage agencies to use all existing authorities to offer telework to additional employees, to the extent their work could be telework enabled. If employees are not eligible for telework, agency heads have the discretion to offer weather and safety leave, or the agency's equivalent, including for employees who may not have been considered "at higher risk" under OMB M-20-13. Furthermore, agency heads should develop an operational plan that maximizes resources and functional areas to most safely and efficiently deliver these mission-critical functions and other Government services (including but not limited to staggered work schedules and other operational mitigation measures).

We encourage agencies to consult with current CDC operating guidance https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/downloads/community-mitigation-strategy.pdf to maximize safe working environments and implement substantial mitigation strategies for the workplace.

Hearing lots of people defining "fear" as the opposite of "positive thinking."

As a historian of positive thinking and Jesus-fan, I beg you:

Speak honestly. Acknowledge reality. Fear is not the act of saying "negative" things out loud.

You can still be faithful and afraid.

Biggest concern is increased risk of suicide and domestic homicide resulting from isolation & despair in US where 1 in 3 homes have a gun. Hate- and political-inspired gun violence could also spike. Community gun violence could drop w/ fewer social gatherings, in-person contacts.

NEW: We must take immediate, large-scale, once-in-a-century action to protect our public health and our economy.

I was among the first to urge Congress to look at direct payments, but now we need much more than that.

Many of the museums in NYC will probably have to close permanently 😞 I'm not sure of what can be done to save the countless artistic institutions that will be devastated. Fashion, design, all of the performing arts, students who may not get to have a career. The impact is endless

Every day Dr. Craig Smith, Chair of the Dept of Surgery, sends out a #Covid_19 update. We will be posting them here each evening.

This is the COVID-19 update for today, 3/20/20

Dear Colleagues,

This has been a very active day, during which the hard data has became alarming. I wish I could use a more comforting word. Today NYP has about 300 COVID-19 antigen-positive inpatients, with about 200 awaiting test results. This approaches a 50% increase in one day. CUIMC inpatient COVID-19 positive patients have increased from 37 to 59 overnight, ventilator patients from 10 to 12. Projections presented at noon today estimate that we will reach peak COVID-19 volume within 21-32 days, at which point the NYP system will need 700-934 ICU beds. The lower estimate exceeds our ICU capacity, even with surge construction, HSS and OMK capacity added. With that resource limitation in mind, we have reduced the urgent OR schedule even more dramatically. There is a sliver of a silver lining—it appears the alarm raised yesterday about our blood supply was overstated.

PPE is an increasingly limited resource, most dramatically illustrated by masks. N95 masks are already extremely scarce. NYP normally uses 4,000 non-N95 masks per day. Currently NYP is consuming 40,000 such masks per day, which is estimated to reach 70,000 per day. The downstate region uses about 3 million masks per week. The entire United States strategic reserve holds only 75 million masks. With great effort Dr. Corwin has successfully pried 150,000 masks out of the reserve; a two-day supply at peak. We're told that manufacturing is beginning to accelerate, but that relief is weeks away at best. These figures might make it hard for readers to understand today's decision to provide one non-N95 mask to each NYP, CUIMC, and WC employee, but it is a potentially important concession to their emotional needs. In theory, the mask is to be used only if the person becomes symptomatic. Employees will be responsible for keeping their one mask clean and available.

Nothing would give me greater pleasure than to apologize profusely in a few weeks for having overestimated the threat. That would mean we never exceeded capacity, and that mortalities and morbidities rarely seen in non-pandemic circumstances were avoided. The next month or two is a horror to imagine if we're underestimating the threat. So what can we do? Load the sled, check the traces, feed Balto, and mush on. Our cargo must reach Nome. Remember that our families, friends, and neighbors are scared, idle, out of work, and feel impotent. Anyone working in health care still enjoys the rapture of action. It's a privilege! We mush on.

This is what I'm afraid of. I think that folks feel the virus is just a bad cold or flu, when it is far more contagious and 10x as deadly. Young AND old are affected, but folks are like shrug. I'm not a doc, so I'll listen to the SMEs.

Everyone arguing that 1-2% of the population dying isn't a big deal needs to identify 1 or 2 close family members or friends that they are willing to offer up to death in this moment for capitalism. Name them.

Deaths that will happen in a relatively short period of time. This is mass graves kind of death toll. I agree, stop using percentages!

Extraordinary note from hedge fund manager Bill Ackman: says he made a $27 million bet in early March that markets would crash due to coronavirus, the bet paid off $2.6 billion, which he's now investing in companies including Hilton, Lowe's and Burger King pershingsquareholdings.com/pershing-squar …

> On March 23rd, we completed the exit of our hedges generating proceeds of $2.6 billion for the Pershing Square funds ($2.1 billion for PSH), compared with premiums paid and commissions totaling $27 million, which offset the mark-to-market losses in our equity portfolio. Our hedges were in the form of purchases of credit protection on various global investment grade and high yield credit indices. Because we were able to purchase these instruments at near-all-time tight levels of credit spreads, the risk of loss from this investment was minimal at the time of purchase.
> We have redeployed substantially all of the net proceeds from our hedges by adding to our investments in Agilent, Berkshire Hathaway, Hilton, Lowe's, and Restaurant Brands. We have also purchased several new investments including reestablishing our investment in Starbucks which we sold in January. The proceeds of the hedges have enabled us to become a substantially larger shareholder of a number of our portfolio companies, and to add some new investments, all at deeply discounted prices. Even after these additional investments, we maintain a cash position of about 17% of the portfolio.

Here is the latest crisis update from Dr. Smith on COVID-19.
#COVID19 #StayHome

See today's letter and previous updates here:
columbiasurgery.org/news/covid-19- …

Dear Colleagues,

It may be obvious that writing these Updates is a daily struggle to balance terror with reassurance. Today the steady drumbeat of new cases continues, and it remains possible that our system will be overwhelmed. Repeating the threats represented by a lack of PPE and testing can feel corrosive. In sum, the accelerating pace of this contagion so easily overwhelms me that I risk becoming the Jaws of doomsurfing. But this is a day I'm mostly astonished by the explosion of energy and creativity being applied to the battle. "Not knowing when the dawn will come / I open every door" (Dickinson). Doors are flinging open all over the place.

Less than 24 hours ago, I mentioned that a rapid response team of Surgery residents was "being formed." Overnight they went into action, as the self-designated "Surgical Workforce Access Team" (SWAT), doing arterial lines, central lines, Foleys, OGT/NGT insertions, and dealing with difficult peripheral access. POCUS and more is on the near horizon. Anesthesiology donated two anesthesia carts and an ultrasound to the effort. Yesterday I also mentioned our redeployed NPs. They start this morning in the ICU at the other system hospital.

In our larger environment, mask resterilization has progressed rapidly through theory to practice and appears poised to handle a remarkably large number of masks/day with a dry-heat method. As I understand it, this includes N95 masks. 3D-manufactured face shields developed by CU engineers should be in use later today. Clusters of our mothballed elective ORs have already been converted to ICU pods with 2 or 3 patients per room, including two patients being carefully managed on one ventilator. We now have the machine capacity to do 1,000 PCR antigen tests per day, but can't fully utilize that capacity because of severely limited swabs, transfer medium, and the PPE required for the person doing the swabbing. Pathology is rapidly testing a variety of swab and transfer medium alternatives. Related resources from our idle basic science labs are on offer immediately if they become relevant. A serum test for anti-Coronavirus antibody is on the verge of clinical applicability, pending a few logistic hurdles. The ability to detect antibody will help epidemiologically in scaling the denominator of infected patients and makes possible existing efforts that are underway to study therapeutic uses of convalescent plasma (obtained from patients who are antigen-negative, antibody-positive).

I've mentioned previously that VP&S research activities have been slashed to the barest essentials. Even so, precious and often irreplaceable animal colonies are being meticulously cared for by Institute of Comparative Medicine staff, at a negligible absentee rate. We are truly all hands on deck. I'm proud to be part of it.

I, like you and any other human, has definitely enjoyed the ZESTY NACHO TANG of Doritos corn chips from time to time, as well as their alternate flavors like Cool Ranch, Sweet Chili, Spicy Meatball, Hot Tire, and Fresh-Cut Grass. But then I thought, where did that name come from?

Chuck Wendig @ChuckWendig · 5 h
I asked my dogs and my son and we're all in quarantine but we all came to the consensus that it's probably from doradito, or "golden brown," but the dogs and the eight-year-old weren't sure, so I Googled it. But no official answers.

Friday (3/27/20) COVID-19 crisis update from Dr. Craig Smith:
columbiasurgery.org/news/covid-19- ....
#COVID19 #coronavirus

Dear Colleagues,

The enemy is inside the wire. This became unavoidably obvious yesterday when another colleague was intubated. Just one of an unsettling number of new ventilator cases at CUIMC, but proof for everyone of how real this is getting, regardless of one's personal proximity to the razor wire and the Claymores. A widespread anxiety surge followed, with night-long text chains between the newly rattled. What is the proper response? First, at the most practical level, accept that there is no place to hide. The virus has no opinion on class, race, socioeconomic status, or professional stature. This latest reality-test reminds me that when I first bowed at the altar of healing, I felt I had cut a deal with the devil that I would freely sacrifice in countless ways for others, but in exchange for protection of my family. That lasted only until the first of several times that the devil reneged on our deal.

Perhaps each of us manages this trick by different means, but we find a way to pull out of an anxiety-driven small view and rise up to the big view. For what it's worth, I'll offer a personal example: Picture me in the final stages of drying up the minor bleeding that typically follows straightforward replacement of two heart valves. All is very routine until the back of the heart starts to bleed; it's coming apart. This is a patient I looked in the eye and agreed to care for, to the best of my ability. The preoperative probability of death was ~2%—something like COVID-19—suddenly that has become a very real number, and closer to 50%. I'm not ashamed to confess that my first reaction, 100% of the time, is crippling anxiety and self-doubt. Can I put Humpty together again? But there is no one but me to take care of this. The only response possible is to turn down my thermostat and start trying to do what must be done to save the patient. At least half the time that saves the patient. Back to this reality, we can expect the vast majority of COVID patients to do very well. Even most of those who go on ventilators survive, but not by chance. They survive because we don't give up. We take care of them, even when we're distressed. Even so, no one has any illusions about how difficult that can be.

Folks this graph is critical to understanding #Covid_19. Too often we see "cumulative cases" which does not tell todays story. "New cases" or "incidence" is better. But best to guide action is ACTIVE CASES = sources of virus = (total cases minus recovered cases minus deaths).

Active Cases

By removing deaths and recoveries from total cases, we get "currently infected cases" or "active cases" (cases still awaiting for an outcome).

On Friday, 11% of the NYPD's uniformed officers were out sick. Today, that's up to 14% (5,199). 930 NYPD employees have tested positive for Covid19.

Sooooo in these difficult times that seem to get more difficult and complicated by the day, I just found out that I am positive for corona virus. I have been exposed to people in recent days who have subsequently tested positive and I had fever, chills and shortness of breath. I just hope I didn't give it to the kids and Cristina. That would make me feel worse than this illness! I am quarantined in my basement (which actually makes the rest of the family seem pleased!) I will do my shows from here. We will all beat this by being smart and tough and united!

2/ All the school, business, and beach closures have been carried out by states and cities, not Trump.

At the very least, Trump could incentivize non-compliant or complacent states to enact emergency measures.

But he does nothing, except provide weak, intermittent guidance.

COVID-19 Update: Wednesday, 4/1/20

First day of April and here's the latest on the #COVID19 crisis from Dr. Craig Smith: columbiasurgery.org/news/covid-19- …

Dear Colleagues,

March 2020 is now behind us. Most of us, and I include myself, started the month secretly unconvinced that this could happen here. Then the new cases started doubling. Defects in reality-testing don't survive exponential contagion. It's rational to be pleased that we are now doubling every 7 days, after doubling every 3 days for much of the month, but what about the month ahead of us? All evidence suggests that April will be worse than March. I hope I'm wrong. Come what may, there is no better place and there are no better people to take this on.

There is new information today on the continuing evolution of our testing policy. Our machine capacity for PCR viral antigen assays is very large but remains resource-constrained (swabs, reagents). Nonetheless, the PCR test is being expanded to include all patients who are being admitted, regardless of symptoms or exposure history. This applies to all patients having urgent or emergent operations, which has obvious relevance to our Department. NYP is eager to include testing for all health care workers, but today our capacity is still too limited for that step. That population will likely be addressed with a combination of PCR testing for antigen and serum testing for antibody. Antibody testing keeps coming tomorrow, rather than today, but I'm confident we'll get there. I have the impression that media descriptions of testing availability are woefully disconnected from actual capabilities on the ground, at least here in the epicenter, which makes it difficult to establish realistic expectations.

Writing on April 1, late in the day, I can't possibly be the first person to shout out the first four lines of "The Wasteland" (TS Eliot). But first or not, I can't resist: "April is the cruelest month, breeding / Lilacs out of the dead land, mixing / Memory and desire, stirring / Dull roots with spring rain." The rest of the poem is much too long, too grim and overwrought for my taste. The line-breaks that highlight three verbs (breeding, mixing, stirring) are a nice writerly touch, but I admire it most for one phrase—mixing memory and desire. In an April that may be apocalyptically cruel, that is how we are poised, desiring spring.

There are SO many reasons why we see racial disparities and all of them can point to RACISM -via policies, residential segregation, bias medical systems, etc- and NOT biological or behavioral race differences.

My contribution to @joshscampbell's CNN piece - Research has shown that during a crisis if individuals let fear, anxiety, & confusion spread, they will most likely begin to feel helpless. For many, t/purchase of a weapon resolves that sense of helplessness

They should be afraid of owning a weapon they don't understand nor know how to use safely.

Oh this is pathetic. And still people will support this garbage. They literally changed the mission statement to match the pathetic lie of the president's son-in-law who's not even the smartest person in a one-person room.

Laura Bassett @LEBassett
This is what the website for the federal stockpile said yesterday vs what it says today, after Kushner was caught lying about how states aren't supposed to be using it. It was changed to say, "Many states have products stockpiled, as well."

And the joke is, it still doesn't match what Kushner said. The first sentence makes things clear. The mention of other stockpiles doesn't change anything. Deeply lame.

COVID-19 Update: Thursday, 4/2/20

Here is the latest from Dr. Craig Smith: columbiasurgery.org/news/covid-19- …

Dear Colleagues,

In the midst of our viral catastrophe, it's a delight to open with a welcome surprise. Today Steve Corwin announced that NYP is providing a $1250 bonus for everyone who has worked in or supported the COVID-19 front lines, for at least one week. This unprecedented generosity recognizes unprecedented efforts in response to the threat of this unprecedented pandemic. Some nonetheless grateful recipients may demur that they don't do this for bonuses. True and admirable, but everyone in the world is looking for ways to show appreciation for what our people are doing: singing, bringing food, donating PPE. Witness the firemen, who sacrificed so many lives for us on 9/11, gathered in front of Lower Manhattan Hospital sounding their sirens and clapping for everyone inside. This generous gift is just another way to applaud.

I spent some time today on a conference call sharing insights learned from our COVID-19 experience with a mid-sized hospital in the midwest. They are behind us in their new-case curves, but it's immediately evident that in this moment COVID-19 is the universal experience that binds together every part of health care. Setting aside differences in scale, we have exactly the same problems everyone else has, or will soon have. It's equally obvious that there is no playbook and no secret sauce, in large part because so much of the response rests on human resources. There are no engineering tricks or IT sleights-of-hand for that. Wherever we are, we must give everyone enough PPE to feel safe at work, train them when they're redeployed, feed them, rest them, help them protect their families…and lead them. Lead them past the shoals that break our hearts.

As I walked out yesterday, to continue conference calls while sheltered at home, I couldn't resist pausing to catch an iPhone photo of the flowering trees in front of the old Presbyterian chapel across Fort Washington Avenue. When I looked at it later, magnified by un-pinch, I noticed that my foreground captured another mask-wearing person, on the opposite sidewalk, doing exactly the same thing. It's nice to have some things in bloom on a sunny spring day, here in the epicenter.

In Zoom settings I also:
* Enable waiting room, so that I control who gets in
* Give myself the ability to remove anyone from the meeting at any time (if they're causing trouble), and they can't rejoin

I don't enable the chat function. Some have asked me to change this -- so they can write questions/comments instead of raising hand. But, I worry that if a troll does get into the mtg, a chat option would give them a way to be disruptive. Seems more risky than beneficial.

Two Riverside County sheriff's deputies - aged 52 and 51, both with kids - have died after contracting #COVID19, CA Gov says

SACRAMENTO -- Governor Gavin Newsom today issued the following statement regarding the two COVID-19 related deaths of Riverside County Sheriff's Deputy Terrell Young and Deputy David Werksman:

"The deaths of these two heroes are a very real and painful reminder of the risk these women and men face every single day protecting the people of California. Jennifer and I send our deepest and most sincere condolences to the family, friends, and colleagues of Deputy Young and Deputy Werksman as they grapple with this tremendous loss."

Deputy Young, 52, passed away Thursday morning due to complications from COVID-19. He began his career with the Riverside County Sheriff's Department in December 2005 and was most recently assigned to the Cois Byrd Detention Center. He is survived by his wife and four children.

Deputy Werksman, 51, died Thursday night after battling the virus for nearly three weeks. He was a 22-year veteran of the Riverside County Sheriff's Department. He was assigned to the Riverside County Sheriff's Department Public Records Unit. Deputy Werksman is survived by his wife and three children.

So if we're calculating risk infection is fatal, we need to compare total flu infections - potentially 1/3 of population - with annual deaths. As rough estimate, this suggests 0.02-0.05% of flu infections are fatal, i.e. 10x lower than COVID (Data: cdc.gov/flu/about/burd …) 5/

What do you expect when bureaucrats ban all non-emergency procedures due to a surge that never came? Those procedures which sure as hell aren't optional for the patients are what pays all the bills and salaries for hospitals and surgery centers. It was predictable as hell.

"We write to express concern about the dangerous proliferation of untraceable firearms, commonly known as 'ghost guns,' during the COVID-19 pandemic."

- House Judiciary Dems ask ATF to investigate

Letter: judiciary.house.gov/uploadedfiles/ ...

Dear Acting Director Lombardo:

We write to express concern about the dangerous proliferation of untraceable firearms, commonly known as "ghost guns," during the COVID-19 pandemic and to learn what actions the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) has undertaken to ensure those who are prohibited from owning firearms do not obtain ghost guns during the COVID-19 emergency. While the surge in firearm sales from federally licensed dealers has received nationwide attention, at least 16 companies that sell ghost gun kits have reported order backlogs and shipping delays due to overwhelming demand.[1] The uptick in sales of ghost gun kits and parts have received substantially less notice, even though the increase in sales of ghost guns poses a direct threat to public safety and law enforcement.

A new analysis found that 11% of veterans with Covid-19 died when they received standard care — but the death rate rose to 28% when they were also given hydroxychloroquine, the malaria drug touted by Trump.

Politico's @owermohle and I first wrote a month ago about how Trump's hunch on hydroxychloroquine was pulling health officials away from other, more promising drugs and raising concerns given lack of data.

White people can pull up armed on a Black person and if an altercation starts then the white people can shoot him, claiming self-defense.

Valid point. In my experience those dealing guns without a license typically acquired guns for resale through straw purchasers. Today some of these traffickers are simply building ghost guns and selling them on Armslist. Stolen guns from cars, certainly on the rise.

Other	5.9	5.6	8.5
Multiple sources[c]	2.5%	2.6%	2.0%
Estimated number of prisoners who possessed a firearm, excluding prisoners who did not report source[d]	256,400	227,100	29,300

Note: Prisoners were asked to report all sources and methods of obtaining any firearm they possessed during the offense, so details may not sum to totals. Each source is included in this table when multiple sources were reported. See Methodology. Percentages exclude missing data. Excludes 10.3% of state prisoners and 14.1% of federal prisoners who possessed a firearm during the offense and were missing responses on either source or method of obtaining the firearm. These prisoners were excluded either because they did not provide a valid response or they did not receive the questions due to inconsistent answers and/or responses to the previous questions about type of weapon. See appendix table 6 for standard errors.

Not calculated. Too few cases to provide a reliable estimate, or coefficient of variation is greater than 50%.

[a]Illegal sources of firearms that include markets for stolen goods, middlemen for stolen goods, criminals or criminal enterprises, or individuals or groups involved in sales of illegal drugs.

[b]Includes theft from victim.

[c]Includes theft where the source could not be identified and theft other than from a burglary, retail location, family, or friend.

[d]Any type of firearm source specified in the table was excluded. Includes sources that did not fit into one of the existing categories, sources for which there were few responses, such as bought online, or if there was not enough information to categorize the source. Examples of other sources include bought from an unknown source or did myself from a friend by an unknown method.

[e]Includes prisoners who reported multiple sources or methods that could have been one of the categories. Each reported source is included in the categories above.

[f]Includes prisoners who reported they carried or possessed a firearm and prisoners who reported a source or method.

Interesting how wearing a mask is considered as being afraid, yet carrying a gun is just protection.

The masks available to most all of us protect the people around the wearer rather than the wearer. Wearing a mask is a courtesy to others. Wearing one should be considered a sign of decency not fear.

Masks will primarily prevent you from harming others. Guns primarily enable you to harm others. That's where I figure the difference comes in

There are 400,000,000ish guns in this country and an order of magnitude more bullets. If they were primarily used for harming others - we wouldn't have to worry about social distancing.

So either the Covid-19 testing approach is more seriously flawed than we know or the concept of "immunity" is more seriously flawed than we know (or both).

What we know is that we know so little, five months into this pandemic.

i can't fucking stop thinking about the shopping cart theory

To return the shopping cart is an easy, convenient task and one which we all recognize as the correct, appropriate thing to do. To return the shopping cart is objectively right. There are no situations other than dire emergencies in which a person is not able to return their cart. Simultaneously, it is not illegal to abandon your shopping cart. Therefore the shopping cart presents itself as the apex example of whether a person will do what is right without being forced to do it. No one will punish you for not returning the shopping cart, no one will fine you or kill you for not returning the shopping cart, you gain nothing by returning the shopping cart. You must return the shopping cart out of the goodness of your own heart. You must return the shopping cart because it is the right thing to do. Because it is correct.

Leaders who fail to deploy @shotspotter in cities exhibit the same cynical logic with gunshot detection as others do with COVID-19 testing. Sensors tell us the nature of gun violence in the same way a swab tells us who's sick. I trust science to communicate inconvenient truths.

MCCA statement on the death of George Floyd

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
May 27, 2020

MAJOR CITIES CHIEFS ASSOCIATION (MCCA)
STATEMENT REGARDING THE DEATH OF GEORGE FLOYD

The death of Mr. Floyd is deeply disturbing and should be of concern to all Americans.

The officers' actions are inconsistent with the training and protocols of our profession and MCCA commends Minneapolis Police Chief Medaria Arradondo for his swift and decisive action to terminate the employment of the officers involved.

MCCA members have worked tirelessly to build trust between law enforcement and the communities they serve. What occurred in Minneapolis is a sobering reminder of how quickly bad policing can undermine that trust. The law enforcement community must do better and hold ourselves to a higher standard.

We extend our deepest condolences to the Floyd family and will lift them up in prayer during this difficult time.

The Major Cities Chiefs Association (MCCA) is a professional organization of police executives representing the largest cities in the United States and Canada. The MCCA provides a unique forum for urban chiefs, sheriffs and other law enforcement executives to share ideas, experiences and strategies. MCCA provides a collaborative forum for the advancement of public safety through innovation, research, policy development, government engagement, community outreach, and leadership development.

Just wondering, given the circumstances, what would/could have happened if one of the other officers refused to cooperate handcuffing the crew and reporter? Is that so unacceptable an action as peer pressure prevails, or would it ever be an option?

Not cuffed. I am not condoning anything; I am being precise that in the spectrum of police brutality, shots taken with the guy wearing cuffs is a special level of sadism and cowardice.

Update: At least eight people are dead and 18 more have been wounded, seven critically, in Philadelphia gun violence since noon yesterday. There were two mass shootings (with four victims each), one triple shooting and two double shootings. Like nothing I've seen before.

> Jim MacMillan @JimMacMillan
> Sources: More than a dozen people were shot overnight in Philadelphia, including several multiple-victim incidents. I'm working on details. That would bring my estimate 60+ shooting victims in the city since Memorial Day, more than double our usual rate. #everydaymassshoootings

To every American looking on in horror tonight at the uniformed officers who are paid with their tax dollars beating and gassing innocent people: Trump wants this scene repeated across the country.

Trump's actions are not law and order, they are naked authoritarianism.

Beyer Statement on Trump-Sanctioned Police Brutality

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

"Trump's actions tonight are not law and order, they are naked authoritarianism.

"Unleashing state violence against peaceful American demonstrators and journalists to create a photo op is a violation of the President's oath to defend the Constitution and a betrayal of everything this country stands for.

"Every American looking on in horror tonight at the uniformed officers who are paid with their tax dollars beating and gassing innocent people should consider that Trump wants this scene repeated in cities across the country. He is a clear and present danger to the rule of law.

"If Trump had devoted a fraction of the focus he has given to encouraging violence against American citizens while dealing with the COVID-19 pandemic that has killed over 100,000 people, thousands more might still be alive today. He is endangering American lives in more ways than we can count, and the damage his failed presidency has done to our country will haunt us for years to come.

"I do not know how those who sanctioned and authorized the violent reprisals he ordered can square their actions with the Constitution or with their consciences. The violence we have seen from authorities tonight is not right, good, or just, and it has no place in the United States of America."

I don't like sweeping statements, but any leader, of any party, who doesn't speak out about what just happened at the White House is absolute garbage.

It's a buffet of misdeeds and atrocities. Take your pick. But don't be silent.

Just a buffet? He invoked the Insurrection Act of 1807 without proper cause, tear gassed a crowd of peaceful Americans in Lafayette Park so that he could walk to the church, held the Bible upside down for a photo op as the cherry on top of a whole Sh1t Sundae.

Heather Burbach @Burbachbacon · Jun 1
No, the cherry on top was that it wasn't his bible - it was taken from the church without permission, per the deacon.

It was a bible stolen from the church he was unauthorizedly using as a photo-op.

The world is horrified at Trump, not just because it's so chaotic, so evil, so incompetent, but also because he's so mentally and morally unfit, his Malignant Narcissism drives everything he does - none of it decent. He's never done a decent thing in his life for anyone.

Remember that the next time you see it flying over a state capital or stuck on the back of a pickup truck. It is the opposite of patriotism.

One of the proudest traditions of @ATFHQ is providing assistance to state and local authorities only upon request. I challenge leadership to remain principled, honor the Mayor's request, and continue to serve our nation honorably during a perilous juncture in history.

#BLM march started small, but then grew and grew as we walked through Keller. Great speeches, support from people curbside cheering, and a sense of overall kindness.
I stand by my position that platitudes need to become policy, but it was encouraging to see a show of solidarity.

You understand it—you can't feel it or experience it. Baldwin's point is that if anyone asked any white person if they would ever switch places with a black person, the answer is universally no. Which means they know. That says everything.

Watch this super interesting conversation with the former police chief of Camden, NJ.

In Camden, city leaders dissolved the entire police department in 2012 and fully rebuilt it to focus on community policing.

After this reform:
- murders ⬇️ 70%
- violent crime ⬇️ 46%

That doesn't work with the Confederate flag people though because they've got a Schrodinger's cat thing going on where they are perfectly in between "well the Confederates were actually democrats" and "it's not racist it's about heritage and states rights" at all times

What does it mean to defund the police?

In a broad sense - to pull resources away from outsized police budgets and invest in public health solutions, i.e violence interrupters, housing, mental health services, etc.

In 2020, there have been 177 homicides in Philadelphia in 161 days. Last night, my nephew was killed-he is the 176th homicide victim of the year in Philadelphia. 158 of the 177 victims were killed by firearms.

Another senseless murder in this city. In my role as a Police Inspector, I go to community meetings and people tell me BLACK LIVES MATTER. Sometimes, they tell me I do not understand that BLACK LIVES MATTER because I'm a cop. He is the 2nd nephew I have lost to gun violence.

I know BLACK LIVES MATTER because I have lost way too many friends and family to gun violence. My blood is on the streets. Literally.

While we are working on ending racism and police brutality.. we should be working just as hard on ending this gun violence. In lieu of your thoughts and prayers.. I prefer you do something to help end this pervasive gun violence in Philadelphia.

My nephew's name is Tyshawn Woods, he was a 22 year-old black man. Say his name. His life mattered. #BLM

We can know history without statues and flags. We remember who Lee Harvey Oswald was despite the absence of a statue. We remember we were once ruled by the British without flying the Union Jack.

Memorializing evil is not a remotely necessary means of creating historical memory.

The cop who killed George Floyd wasn't stressed. He casually put his knee on his neck for 8:46 with his hands in his pockets. Never saw someone murder another human being while appearing so bored. So there's that....and I can't imagine a lesson plan that fixes it.

Were there even 3 such in Georgia? A recent year had 9 unarmed NATIONWIDE w very liberal definitions of "unarmed."

Which is amazing because what cops fear — why they focus on controlling hands — is the unseen gun that can kill them 1/2 second from right now.

Aha!...

[[raybury]] @raybury · 5 שע׳
I see what you did. "Unarmed or shot in the back" is like "the vast population of Wyoming and Florida": True, but misleading.

A shooter who is a danger to the community may be running from cops, and even shooting back at them. Deadly force can be justified.

2 take-aways from the @NRA's setbacks at SCOTUS today:

- Our political success on gun safety MATTERS. The Court is responsive to public opinion & we're winning the political argument.

- 2020 MATTERS. The delicate balance we've achieved goes away if Trump appoints more justices.

> Adam Winkler @adamwinkler
> While people are appropriately focusing on the historic LGBT cases decided today, the Court's rejection of 10 Second Amendment cases is also quite noteworthy — and is a major setback to the gun rights movement.

Last year, hundreds of advocates rallied at the Supreme Court to protest the NRA's efforts to roll back gun safety laws.

Today, SCOTUS rejected the gun lobby's dangerous agenda...

This kind of irresponsible behavior puts so many people working on Capitol Hill at serious risk, a large number of whom are my constituents.

It's so unnecessary -- it is not some kind of major hardship to just wear a mask.

In a WSJ interview, Trump admits his tweet -- "when the looting starts, the shooting starts" -- was, in part, a threat

Mr. Bender: Is there any part of you that wishing you hadn't sent the tweet about the shooting starts when the looting starts?

Mr. Trump: Well, that tweet is viewed both ways. And by the way, that wasn't from some mayor in Miami, there was a man named Frank Rizzo from New Jersey, was a rough guy. He ran a rough operation, but he didn't have a lot of looting, I can tell you. But that is viewed both two ways. Number one, it can be viewed as a threat. And number two, it can be viewed as a fact that if people start looting, then end up getting shot. And that's usually a fact. Now it's less of a fact in a politically correct society. Because I saw a lot of looting and these kids would just walk out with television. Nobody was doing anything.

Mr. Bender: Did you view it as a fact or a threat?

Mr. Trump: I viewed it that, generally speaking, it could be a combination of both. And look, I think that it's not right, that police offices run by weak liberal Democrats, allow kids to break into stores and walk out with television sets and put them in the back of a car. Which is incredible. Where does the car come from? But, you know, I saw tremendous looting. And

The halls of Congress are the very heart of our democracy. Allowing men who embody the grotesque racism of the Confederacy to be honored within them is unacceptable.

Bill Barr lied when he said Berman stepped down.

Bill Barr also lied about the Mueller Report.

Trump just got bored with the pandemic. Many parts of Europe got hit much worse, but most of those countries have largely crushed transmission down to more manageable levels. The US is still in a first wave that is getting worse every day.

Job shaming! Awesome! I'm in. Great idea. This CANNOT go wrong.

Let's rank the virtue of every profession and if your state has too many workers in the bottom 20% you get kicked out of America.

Who wants to start??

Biden is the clear choice when it comes to compassionate and decent leadership. In a battle of heart, mind, and character @JoeBiden wins by a landslide. We need to ensure that's reflected in the vote this November.

Now the takeaways. First, as you might expect, homicide rates declined substantially (-21.5%) in April as compared to the previous 3-year average. We believe (but cannot prove) this decline was associated with social distancing measures that peaked during that same period.

It's official: the House has voted to affirm the democratic rights of more than 700,000 D.C. residents.

None of this would have been possible if not for the courage, fortitude, and strength of D.C.'s Warrior on the Hill: our Congresswoman @EleanorNorton.

Michael Barajas grew up in Compton, graduated from Berkeley, and worked hard to be able to afford SF's rents. None of that mattered to William Beasley, who blockaded Barajas from his own garage, called him a criminal, and threatened to shoot him.

Watch how quickly and easily Beasley threatens to shoot Barajas. It's a tragic reminder of the ubiquity with which firearms are used to enforce racism. If Black & Brown people don't comply with racist power, they risk their lives. Hate & guns is a clear & present threat.

The President knows the threat.
He knows what to do to prevent that threat.

And yet he decides to do the exact opposite.
He is knowingly gambling with our lives.

"The Threat"
The President has made it clear. He doesn't like testing. He thinks we'd have fewer cases without testing. That's why we have less than 5% of the worlds population, but over 25% of the worlds deaths.

How about putting your country first for once? In other words, aim to make America "great" again.

The 13th Amendment outlawed slavery —with one big caveat: "except as a punishment for a crime." For a century and half, that's been used to re-enslave American citizens (disproportionately black men). So I'm introducing a Constitutional amendment to end this abomination.

This loophole was used to force Black prisoners, many picked up for Black-only "crimes" like loitering, to work for free after Reconstruction. Sometimes in the same fields they worked when enslaved. In 1898, 73% of Alabama's state budget came from selling the labor of prisoners.

Still today ~1 million prisoners, many Black & Brown, work for less than $1/hour or even nothing at all. And of course, many of those are in for non-violent drug crimes. It's time to end this system of forced, unpaid labor rooted in our history of slavery & racism. More to come.

Technically, that was yesterday. The 20th Maine's charge down Little Round Top into the Alabama regiment was on Day 2 (July 2) at Gettysburg. But it made today and the repulse of Lee's insane frontal attack possible by saving Meade from being flanked.

Church of the Resurrection
3h ·

In light of the recent posts regarding the Michigan Militia's decision to protect the crucifix at the Church of the Resurrection with guns, Fr. Steve Mattson, pastor, wishes it to be known that he is not aware of any threats against the crucifix and says he does not approve of protecting the crucifix with guns. 'Jesus allowed us to kill Him. Using guns to protect a crucifix seems to contradict the message of the cross.' Fr. Steve invites us all to wage this war with the spiritual weapons outlined in Ephesians 6.

The Facebook post was a good start, but the fact that the pastor and a bishop —at least an aux—were not out there directly confronting these men with the gospel summarizes the pastoral and evangelical failures of the US church.

White individuals commit crime all the time but white people aren't subjected to racist policing.

So the idea that we, as Black people, have to resolve the issue of crime in order for us to live free of racist policing is RACIST. 1/

The gov't engineers the conditions of poverty thru its policies, chooses to fund the police & prison industry instead of improving quality of life which leads to an increase in crime & then says we have to solve the problems they created if we want cops to stop killing us. 3/3

I know black people care about victims of gun violence. Without a doubt. It's white people I wonder about.

> Ida Bae Wells @nhannahjones
> I also do not want to see one more tweet insinuating that Black people only care about killing when police do it. As if we don't mourn, fight, advocate and take to the street against gun violence. As if we somehow don't love our children and families like anyone else.

The only thing I have to add is that the Colt AR-15 was the assault rifle I was issued on ATF's SWAT team. The fact that we allow, absent a background check or a license, any 18 year-old in America to purchase this weapon designed for war is insane.

You don't need to wait for the vaccine. You need to lockdown until new cases are very low, then open w/ widespread masks and a robust testing/tracing program to squash new outbreaks. Which is what nearly every first world country has done except us (if we even are first world)

This requires federal coordination and funding, which the administration has flat-out refused to consider. States can try on their own, but we STILL have the problem of each competing for PPP and testing supplies, let alone many govs not willing to cooperate and coordinate.

They lumped themselves think of has multiple organizations in North America dedicated to taking pride in their heritage and NO ONE gives them shit for it.

But, you see, when you start talking "white pride", that's not a culture. That's a skin colour. There is no white culture, never was. There is no pan-European culture, never was. Europe is a continent, not a culture or ethnicity.

Now, some of you are probably about to go "But wait! Black pride! How is that okay?" Well, easy. Go find a black person and ask them if their ancestors were slaves. When you find one who says "yes", proceed to ask them "what country in Africa were your ancestors from?" Do you know

In 1793 the U.S. Congress enacted their first fugitive slave law which required every state to forcibly return slaves who had escaped from other states to their owners. It included a $500 penalty levied against rescuers.

Some say this is a non sequitur. Perhaps. But if you claim it's a tiny number, you're admitting that Trump just barely squeaked out a win, which he hates. If you say its a large number, you're admitting that a fuckload of people are getting sick on his watch.

Happy to discuss the only gun crime I'm certain can be prevented nearly 100% of the time. Gun thieves aren't safe crackers they're everyday opportunists. If licensed gun dealers simply locked up their guns at night gun store burglaries would stop.

30 rounds is a mass shooting even when neighbors escape injury or death.

Without @shotspotter cities have no idea about the intensity of gunfire because in many of those communities distrust of police result in 911 calls only if someone is shot. twitter.com/SPOTNEWSonIG/s …

Although some government officials in #Lebanon are saying #BeirutExplosion is because of fireworks storage, smoke color is inconsistent with photo flash powder compounds typically used in class 1.4G & 1.3G fireworks. Would not be surprised if ammonium nitrate involved.

The @nytimes story w/ the govt. of #Lebanon acknowledging they were storing explosives is more consistent with the visual evidence. Of course they could also have been storing fireworks, w/ a fire there serving as a catalyst for the big explosion.

I honestly can't even wrap my head around this:

A Lebanese security official says 2,700 Tons of Ammonium Nitrate led to the #beirut explosion (per @Reuters citing local media)

the Oklahoma City bombers used approximately 2 Tons and destroyed 1 building, shattered another 286

Drug and human traffickers receive the full attention of the federal judicial system. In comparison, there isn't even a federal firearms trafficking statute. Many illegal gun dealers face mere paperwork violations? This must change.

@DanRather, as I look back at the past 4 years, this passage certainly resonates with me. #WhatUnitesUs

> It is important not to confuse "patriotism" with "nationalism." As I define it, nationalism is a monologue in which you place your country in a position of moral and cultural supremacy over others. Patriotism, while deeply personal, is a dialogue with your fellow citizens, and a larger world, about not only what you love about your country but also how it can be improved. Unchecked nationalism leads to conflict and war. Unbridled patriotism can lead to the betterment of society. Patriotism is rooted in humility. Nationalism is rooted in arrogance.

Torn from the same flawed weathered playbook, the President argues being for anti-racist thinking is anti-white. I've heard the same from the NRA who argues gun violence prevention is anti-gun and police unions who say police accountability is anti-cop.

The last time I was called to the World Trade Center was the first time it was targeted by terrorists. Every year on this day I'm called once again to remember 1993 and how things would come to a conclusion on 9/11. So many victims. Everything changed forever.

Yes, Pete, it's the gun owner's fault that the loaded firearm he left in his car overnight was stolen, just as it would be his fault if the infant he left in his car overnight was kidnapped. If the concept of responsibility is too hard for you, please don't have kids or guns.

The level of change is unprecedented and alarming, but the absolute numbers aren't remarkably different from where they've been over the last 20 years and down 40% from the early 90s peak.

Here's what a 20% national increase would look like:

The U.S. Murder Rate, 1960 to 2020

Murders per 100,000 people. Includes an estimated 2020 increase of 20 percent.

We are talking about that middle line. And look: "2019 was the most lethal year for extremism in the United States since the Oklahoma City bombing in 1995" (2)

This chart depicts DVE and homegrown violent extremists (HVEs) attacks in the US since 2018 that posed a threat to life, based on DHS data. 2019 was the most lethal year for domestic violent extremism in the United States since the Oklahoma City bombing in 1995. We are still evaluating data for incidents occurring in 2020. VEs perpetrated 16 attacks, killing 48, whereas HVEs conducted 5 attacks and killed 1 person. Among DVE actors, WSEs conducted half of all lethal attacks (8 of 16), resulting in the majority of deaths (39 of 48). All the DVE attackers had a dominant violent extremist ideology, with many motivated by multiple violent extremist ideologies or violent extremist ideologies unconnected to global violent extremist groups.

Many people thought Giffords was poised to become a senator or even higher, and I remember back in 2009, I had one source predict to me she could be the first female president. If not for a deranged gunman, the sky likely would have been her limit.

Gabrielle Giffords @GabbyGiffords
You were by my side when I took my oath of office nearly 14 years ago. I'm so excited to be by yours today as you're sworn in as our next Arizona Senator.

Seeing lots of speculation about the Nashville bomb. Let's let law enforcement do its job before we reach our own conclusions. There are some unusual features here, but it's a big site & lots of work to do. If you've got any evidence, submit to FBI: tips.fbi.gov/digitalmedia/7 ...

Officer Brian Sicknick, my constituent, was 42 years old, a military veteran who served in the US Capitol Police for 12 years. He made the ultimate sacrifice while protecting those trapped in the Capitol amid a violent assault on our democracy itself. He deserves to lie in state.

Beyer Statement On The Death Of Officer Brian D. Sicknick

January 8, 2021 (Washington, D.C.) – Rep. Don Beyer (D-VA) issued the following statement today on the death of his constituent, United States Capitol Police Officer Brian D. Sicknick:

"Officer Brian Sicknick gave his life in the line of duty to keep us safe. I mourn his loss, and send my deepest condolences to his family. His murder multiplies the pain of this dark moment for our nation, and those who brought about this awful crime must be prosecuted and brought to justice.

"Officer Sicknick was 42 years old, a military veteran who went on to serve in the United States Capitol Police for twelve years. He made the ultimate sacrifice while protecting those trapped in the Capitol amid a violent assault on our democracy itself. Like others before him who died in defense of the people's representatives, he deserves to lie in state."

The U.S. Capitol Police (USCP) announced the death of Officer Sicknick late last night, writing that he "passed away due to injuries sustained while on-duty" after "responding to the riots on Wednesday, January 6, 2021, at the U.S. Capitol" where he "was injured while physically engaging with protesters."

USCP Officers held a ceremonial wake for Sicknick by the Capitol soon afterward.

They brought bombs to the U.S. Capitol.

They said they wanted to assassinate the Speaker of the House and the Vice President.

How can anyone think doing nothing — just moving on like this never happened — is a good idea? That's ludicrous.

This AP story makes it clear that ATF, after responding to the bombs (remember the bombs? Ted Cruz doesn't), realized the Capitol was being overrun and called in more people.

He basically responded far more quickly than DOD.

apnews.com/article/politi …

> Benedict was at the bomb scene when Capitol Police captains there told him their officers were being overrun.
> He immediately activated the special response team that was standing by and began to call in every ATF agent who works for him in Washington.
> When they began entering the Capitol complex at 2:40 p.m., the hallways were packed with rioters.

FBI Director Chris Wray: "Special Agent Daniel Alfin and Special Agent Laura Schwartzenberger, were shot and killed this morning in the line of duty while executing a federal court-ordered search warrant in a crimes against children investigation in Sunrise, Florida."

> "Tragically, the FBI lost two of our own today. Special Agent Daniel Alfin and Special Agent Laura Schwartzenberger, were shot and killed this morning in the line of duty while executing a federal court-ordered search warrant in a crimes against children investigation in Sunrise, Florida. Three other agents were shot and wounded; two suffered injuries requiring hospital care, but both are now in stable condition. The third injured agent did not require hospitalization.
> Every day, FBI Special Agents put themselves in harm's way to keep the American people safe. Special Agent Alfin and Special Agent Schwartzenberger exemplified heroism today in defense of their country. The FBI will always honor their ultimate sacrifice and will be forever grateful for their bravery. We continue to stand by our FBI Family, and the families of these Special Agents, in the days to come, bringing every resource we can to get through this together."

Dear PERF members,

For a country almost numbed by 12 months of the COVID-19 pandemic, the back-to-back mass shooting incidents in Atlanta and Boulder shocked us back to a sad reality. Two individuals, armed with powerful weapons, entered local businesses and senselessly opened fire on employees, customers, and responding police officers. Eighteen people were killed, including Boulder Police Officer Eric Talley, and two communities were left broken and bewildered.

These events highlighted how our thinking on the police response to active shooters has evolved over time. You'll recall back in 1999 that the officers who initially responded to the Columbine High School shooting in Colorado were roundly criticized for not engaging the two teenaged gunmen right away. At that time, the training and policies of most agencies were that the first responding officers should secure the scene and wait for specialized and heavily armed SWAT

The President of the United States is visiting Alexandria soon to observe vaccination efforts here.

@POTUS will visit a @NeighborhoodHth site (@VTS_Seminary), and I can't say enough good things about the work they are doing across the region. They deserve a presidential visit!

> Justin Wilson @justindotnet
> Ensuring speed and equity in Alexandria's vaccination effort has required tireless work on the part of our Health Department, our non-profit partners and THOUSANDS of volunteers....
